EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR WELCOME LETTER

Thank you for attending the 11th Annual Craft Lake City DIY Festival Presented By Harmons!

As I reflect on the past 11 years of the Craft Lake City organization, I am filled with gratitude for the hundreds of volunteers, numerous donors, grantors and sponsors, and the thousands of DIY Festival attendees who have supported our collective vision.

In 2009, I launched the 1st Annual Craft Lake City DIY Festival as a humble, one-day event with 72 local artisans, eight local performers and four local food purveyors. It was the first all-local event of its kind, with 2,000 attendees held at the Gallivan Center in Downtown Salt Lake City.

Over the years, we continued to grow and activate the Downtown area. Our 3rd Annual Craft Lake City DIY Festival expanded the event's footprint. This continued growth brought science, technology, engineering and mathematics to the Festival with a STEM Building. We also expanded the event to two days. Our 7th Annual Craft Lake City DIY Festival expanded to three days—Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Seeing opportunities for diversity and inclusion outreach, we started our Sponsored Families Program, through which entire families can receive a scholarship to enjoy a full Festival experience. We launched an Artisan and Mentor Scholarship Program. We established onsite Festival workshops and an internal ticketing and finance plan.

Each year has brought significant change and new growth for the organization, and 2019 is no exception. The maker community is multiplying, and so are the organization's programming goals. After 10 years at the Gallivan Center, it was time to move the Annual Craft Lake City DIY Festival to our new home with ample room for continued Festival expansion: the Utah State Fairpark!

We're thrilled to be here with you today in our new home! With the Fairpark's spacious, air-conditioned buildings and large grassy areas, we know that patrons and participants alike will relish in this venue change. We can't wait to continue to expand our existing Annual Craft Lake City DIY Festival programming here!

We are Builders. We are Dreamers. We are Craft Lake City.
