CRAFT LAKE CITY 2011

PRESENTED BY SLUG MAGAZINE

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Welcome to Craft Lake City 2011

The Do-It-Yourself movement is growing. Artists, crafters and DIY-ers of all kinds are rediscovering the power behind creation and the satisfaction it brings.

Craft Lake City is a celebration of this creative passion and the people in our community that make it unique. Today's festival features over 180 regional artists specializing in progressive and contemporary handmade items. Find products created using time-honored methods such as embroidery, knitting, and letterpress updated with innovative techniques and fresh designs. Screen prints, jewelry, homemade soap and other crafty surprises can also be found.

The motivation for making items varies from artist to artist. For some, crafting serves as a social statement—a way of supporting environmental sustainability by using upcycled clothing or recycled materials in their projects. For others, the act of creating is personal—considered a reflection of the artist's own unique spirit.

Thank you for making our third annual Craft Lake City presented by SLUG Magazine part of your day! We hope today's festival inspires you to become part of our local handmade community and start your own DIY project.

THE 3 2 1S SLUG MAG STAGE, 3:30-4PM

The 3 2 1s are a self-described "retro garage pop" band. These talented musicians bring their collective experiences to the mic, making music that combines early rock n' roll with surf and soul.

BIRTHQUAKE! CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 7-7:30PM

Since 2008, Birthquake! has been shaking up the Salt Lake music scene with their unique brand of unidentifiable instrumental sounds. Birthquake!'s live show is definitely guaranteed to keep your feet moving.

BLUE LOTUS CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 5-5:30PM

Attending Craft Lake City for their second consecutive year, Blue Lotus Dance Collaborative features six talented dancers known for their "complex choreographies and impeccable Egyptian-style technique."

Photo: e1337st

DANCES WITH WOLVES SLUG MAG STAGE, 8:45-9:15PM

This new project from Lindsay Heath features the local music veteran drumming live over a carefully culled selection of dance floor melters. Expect to see Heath enhancing the rhythm of crowd favorites from James Brown, Michael Jackson, MGMT and more.

DARK SEAS SLUG MAG STAGE, 6:30-7PM

This new addition to SLC's music scene has been killing it with their "crunchy rock n' roll" for the past six months. Be converted by the crunch during their energetic set.

HATHOR CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 5-5:30PM

Hathor Dance Collective is a professional Egyptian-style belly dance company founded by Stephanie Buranek and Rebecca Clayton. The Dance Collective can be seen gracefully moving their bodies at a variety of local and national events.

IT FOOT, IT EARS SLUG MAG STAGE, 5:30-6PM

It Foot, It Ears are a strange but soulful mixture of experimental sounds, known for their unique stage show, which sometimes includes a literal salad toss. SLUG dubbed their latest album "one of the most rewarding listens of the year."

JOSHUA PAYNE ORCHESTRA CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 4-4:30PM

Comprised of longtime guitarist Joshua Payne and a slew of talented, local musicians on a variety of instruments, the Orchestra plays unique compositions influenced by jazz, hip hop, rock and pop sure to get you swinging your hips.

PERFORMING ARTISTS

ANN-BRITT KENNEDY BUSKING AREA, 6:30PM

Salt Lake City native, Ann-Britt Kennedy began playing guitar at 14. Although she eventually moved on to electric bass when she began singing in bands, Kennedy has always written and played her own songs acoustically. Her music is eclectic and pulls influence from blues and alternative rock.

KENSHIN TAIKO CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 2-2:30PM

Founded in 1990, Kenshin Taiko is Salt Lake City's premiere taiko troupe. This group of international musicians is dedicated to bringing the art of traditional Japanese drumming to Salt Lake, and their performance is sure to be powerful.

LUNAR COLLECTIVE CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 5-5:30PM

Blending traditional belly dance with modern dance, hip hop, and even performance art, Lunar Collective is an experimental belly dance troupe focused on fusion, founded by local belly dance teacher and performer Trisha McBride.

MAD MAX & THE WILD ONES CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 3-3:30PM

This rockabilly band from Springville, Utah play good ole rock n' roll with 20-year-old Wyatt on lead guitar, 15-year-old Cole on drums, 11-year-old Duke on rhythm guitar, harmonica and lead vocals, and Mad Max himself on slap bass. Mad Max and his boys have played all over the country and the world, so don't miss out on their rockin' set!

MAX PAIN AND THE GROOVIES SLUG MAG STAGE, 7:30-8PM

Max Pain and the Groovies feature their own brand of sloppy, bluesy rock n' roll. The five-piece has built a large following over the last couple of years due to their groovy tunes and high-energy performances that "whip a crowd into a wild frenzy."

PERFORMING ARTISTS

THE MOOKS

SLUG MAG STAGE, 2:30-3PM

These young punks blend the style of genre greats such as The Ramones and Screeching Weasel with the sweetness of '60s girl groups and the thrashy speed of surf rock. Check out their set for a fun, poppy, snotty punk pogo party.

MUSCLE HAWK

SLUG MAG STAGE, 4:30-5PM

Known for their electrifying live shows, Muscle Hawk is the gritty, funky, electro-thrash project of Salt Lake producers/musicians Greg Bower and Josh Holyoak, sure to provide a hard n' dirty dance vibe that'll get you on your feet then promptly knock you off of them.

NO-NATION ORCHESTRA

CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 6-6:30PM

No Nation Orchestra is a local music powerhouse making their live debut at this year's Craft Lake City. This supergroup specializes in a style of music that draws far and wide across the musical spectrum, from afrobeat to post-punk to jazz to soul and beyond.

RIFAMOS

CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 8-8:30PM

Inspired by '60s surf rock, spaghetti westerns and classic monster movies, Rifamos create swanky music with a vintage sound and plenty of reverb to groove down to.

S.L.F.M.

BUSKING AREA, 4:30 & 5:30PM

The elusive, sometimes-mustached Jessica Davis plays her electric ukulele super fast through some old effects pedals and sings through a vintage mic—the lo-fi approach highlights her raspy, distinct vocal talent.

SPELL TALK

CITY WEEKLY STAGE, 9:15-10PM

This four-piece plays blues and psychedelia-infused rock n' roll in the vein of Dead Meadow, Black Lips and The Entrance Band. Spell Talk shows always result in a high-energy rock n' roll dance party—Craft Lake City will be no exception.

SUBROSA (SPECIAL ACOUSTIC SET)

SLUG MAG STAGE, 8:30-8:45PM

Over the six years of Subrosa's existence, founding member Rebecca Vernon has cultivated a sound that draws from genres as diverse as goth, folk, stoner rock and doom metal. Vernon's set shouldn't be missed by seekers of the dark and unexpected.

ENSOUL COLLABORATION!

AREA SOUTHEAST OF SLUG MAG STAGE

Back by popular demand, Ensoul Breakdance will be performing intermittently at Craft Lake City 2011. This collaborative group puts the "soul back into the human existence," with their fresh moves, and were one of the most talked about dance troupes at last year's Craft Lake City.
